Dear Sir:

In response to the final office action of 12/23/02, please amend the application as follows:

IN THE CLAIMS

Amend claim 20 as follows:

20. (Twice amended) A receiver for identifying a transmitted message based upon a received signal, the receiver comprising:

a processor for generating a constellation design having a minimum threshold and a maximum threshold for each of a plurality of possible signal levels, the minimum and maximum thresholds for each possible signal level representing a range, wherein the sizes of the ranges are different for at least two of the [that may differ between] possible signal levels, and a comparator that identifies the transmitted message by comparing the received signal with the generated constellation design and that generates an output signal representative of the transmitted message.
